Tomorrow's Trailblazer

Award Amount: 1500

- Reflect on the power dynamics within advocacy and activism. How can individuals effectively navigate and challenge the dominant power structures to bring about meaningful change?
- Consider the impact of historical events on current societal structures. Discuss how acknowledging and understanding historical injustices can inform our approach to addressing contemporary issues.
- Reflect on the dangers of complacency in the face of societal issues. How does undermining awareness of these issues impact citizens, and what role can individuals play in raising awareness?
- How should History be taught in the public school system? What is the current and future impact of teaching History in a time where we now have access to multiple perspectives that may differ from what is taught in schools?
- Discuss the ethical responsibility of media and information dissemination in shaping public opinion. Analyze how media can either perpetuate or challenge the status quo in addressing societal inequities.
